The proper occlusal morphology in restorations is an important consideration in the overall success of a restoration. Ranging from a simple full veneer crown to complex full mouth restorations, the rehabilitation largely depends on the occlusal morphology. These reconstructions require understanding of different occlusal schemes and the wax up techniques. This course shall explain different occlusal schemes in natural dentition and wax up techniques to develop the same.